The last twinning Steering Committee meeting outlined key recommendations

On 26 January 2017 the last (sixth) Steering Committee meeting took place in Tbilisi. One of the main outcomes of the discussion of the SC members was mutual agreement on the set of key recommendations towards project sustainability and further use and development of the results and achievements. The recommendations are based on the positive results of piloting the New Service Model in the selected locations. We can openly state that this project was a real challenge for the whole Slovak-Hungarian-Czech-Georgian twinning team, however, now when the project end is here, we can honestly say we did our almost for the success and results are on place.

Looking back to works already done, now we have to look forward and to continue in improving the services provided by SSA/ESS to job-seekers and employers. All this can and should be based on the New Service Model. Our three countries, Slovakia, Hungary and Czech Republic, are ready to continue supporting the colleagues from Georgia by all available means.
